BIOGRAPHY

Jon Sorokin is an Associate in the General Liability group in the firm's Philadelphia office. He received his Juris Doctor from Drexel University's Thomas R. Kline School of Law, earning the Kline School of Law Award for Outstanding Service to the Moot Court Board and Performance in an External Moot Court Competition.

In his time at Drexel, Jon served as Vice President of the Moot Court Board, Entertainment Chair of the Sports & Entertainment Law Society, and as a member of the Intellectual Property Law Society and Jewish Law Students Association. He competed in the Giles Rich Intellectual Property Moot Court Competition, finishing as a Regional Champion in Spring 2025. Also during law school, Jon worked in the legal department at a high-profile musical theatre licensing company in Manhattan and completed a co-op with a national copyright law organization, where he worked closely with the Editor-in-Chief on the organization's journal and assisted in the research of top copyright attorneys and intellectuals. Upon graduation, Jon was inducted into the Order of the Barristers for his Moot Court achievements in trial advocacy, oral advocacy, and brief writing.
